

Lucerne, Switzerland, October 14 2015

RMI Analytics AG publishes the latest edition of its Brewing Raw Material Journal.

On October 13 RMI Analytics AG published the latest bi-weekly edition of the industry acclaimed Brewing Raw Material Journal (BRMJ).

In the BRMJ RMI Analytics reported:

EU markets have been quiet in the first two weeks of October.

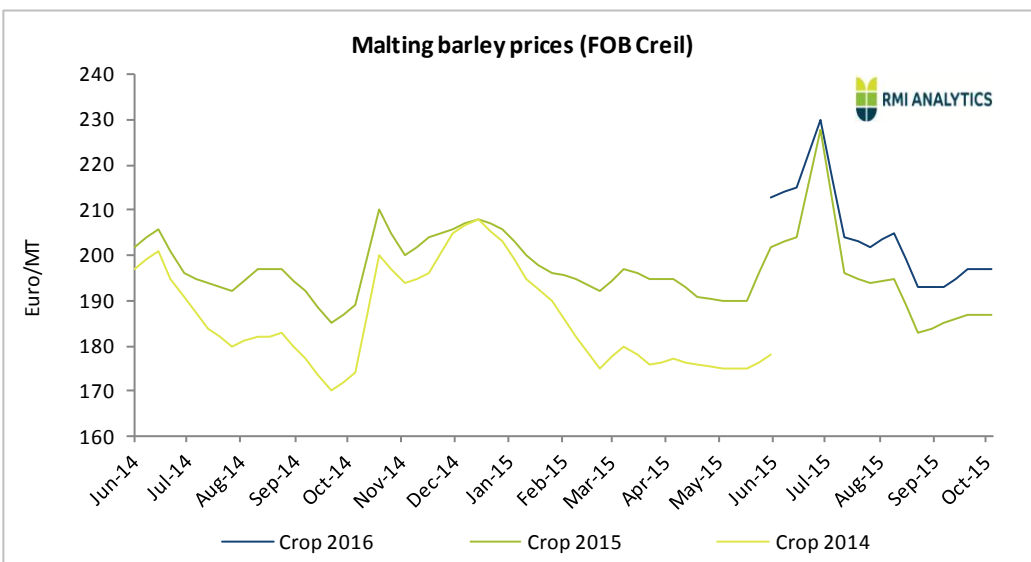

The Canadian malting barley harvest is totally finished with overall barley harvest up by 7%.

Major USA production states have seen large jumps in production levels especially in North Dakota, Minnesota and Idaho.

Extended dryness in Australia is sapping yield and quality potential with harvest starting very early in some areas.

Argentina has seen some excessive rains but conditions are good.

EU maltsters are well sold and starting to cover more demand from the industry. SAB Miller/AB-InBev tie up confirmed.
